

I am the sole staff member of a small nonprofit association representing North Carolina's free medical clinics and the uninsured patients they serve. The proposed changes to the regulations regarding sending faxes will be very burdensome on my organization. We only send faxes to our membership and those that have attended our educational conferences. Requiring their permission before sending a fax, tracking whose permission has been received, and following up on those not responding to our request for permission will add administrative headaches to my already overwhelming responsibilities. Please revisit this issue and add a clause that allows nonprofits to fax to those with a previous business relationship.

Thanks you for your consideration.
